THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Day	Book	Chapter	Verses
Sunday	Exodus	4	12-15
Monday	Isaiah	6	1-7
Tuesday	Jeremiah	1	4-10
Wednesday	Matthew	10	7-16
Thursday	I Timothy	4	1-5
Friday	Acts	26	16-18
Saturday	Ephesians	4	11-12

No, he doesn't predict the future. From antiquity the prophets have been those who speak for God. In every generation they have explained His promises . . . pointed out His warnings.

Some men believed the prophets, and saw God's promises fulfilled. Others were skeptical—until their own bitter experience vindicated God's warnings.

No wonder many thought the prophets were reading the future. To every thus saith the Lord a later historian had to add and it came to pass.

In a pulpit not far from your home, there will stand next Sunday an earnest, thoughtful, consecrated man. He is a prophet! He can't predict whether you'll come to hear him. But he's preparing right now to speak for God—TO YOU.

It is the One who calls the prophets who knows . . . whether you'll come . . . whether you'll believe . . . and all the future holds in store for you.

ASSEMBLY OF GOD

Diane Varsi Is Feminine James Dean

By VERNON SCOTT
UPI Hollywood Correspondent
HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—It wasn't easy, but this zany celluloid farm has produced a feminine Jimmy Dean.

She's 20-year-old Diane Varsi, a troubled, introverted girl who says she is happy less than two days a week. Like the late Jimmy Dean, she is a full-fledged star after only two pictures.

Diane admits she's a rebellious nonconformist. Her behavior and appearance confirm it.

Huddled in a corner of the 20th Century-Fox commissary for lunch, Diane looked a perfect rags-to-riches girl as Jayne Mansfield and Joan Collins.

Diane was wearing faded, skin-tight blue denim trousers, blotched by rust from the rivets. Her hair was disheveled, her nails unpolished and her bare feet ensconced in Japanese sandals. She wore no makeup — not even lipstick — as she sat cross-legged at the table.

"I'm not interested in superficialities," she explained in a quiet voice.

Thinks Clothes Unimportant
"Fancy clothes and makeup take too much time. I only take time for things I think are important. Therefore I'm quite inconsiderate of my appearance and superficial opinions other people might have."

Diane and the late, tousled-haired Dean have other traits in common. Both were nominated for Academy Awards—Diane for her first role in "Peyton Place." Like Dean she also fights studio dictators. Until recently she was under suspension by Fox for refusing to accept a loanout.

"I don't like being compared to Jimmy," she went on. "I never met him. But I want to be original. That's how I think."

Diane rubbed her shiny nose with the back of her hand and nibbled at a piece of French bread. Before answering questions she burrows deeply into her thoughts.

Asked the reason for this, she said, "I only went to high school for one year, and I like to think about things."

"I'm undisciplined about my reading. Right now I'm studying anthropology and reading some books on plants and things."

Has Young Son
When Diane quit high school she struck out on a "pilgrimage to find myself." In the process she worked as an apple picker, restaurant hostess, model, salesgirl and on an assembly line in a candle factory.

Diane has been married twice and lives along with her 2-year-old son, Shawn. She divorced her second husband, James Dickson, last August.

"My days are filled with housework and taking care of Shawn," she said. "I don't even own a television set. Never saw more than 12 hours of TV in my whole life. I haven't the time for it."

"I've been a rebel since I was 12 years old. I was rebelling against the way I was treated and things I didn't like. Even at that age I thought conforming would annihilate my very existence. When people ask me why I don't conform, I ask them, 'conform to what?'"

Currently starring in "Compulsion," Diane says "I am trying to commit myself as fully as I can to the role" — a characteristic well known to Dean's associates.

Girl's Measurements Garbled By Her Agent

HOLLYWOOD—(UPI)—Producer Milo Frank apologized with tongue in cheek to an agent for not giving more consideration to an actor-client of the agent.

"But after all, you'll have to admit that her measurements weren't in the usually acceptable range," Frank told him.

The agent then realized that he'd given her measurements as 21-23-36 and her age as 37.

Frank said later the girl (37-23-36 and 21 years old) would get an audition.

Girls In TV Westerns Do Not 'Smooch'

NEW YORK (AP)—The majority of girls in TV Westerns are not exactly the type you'd want to introduce to your mother. When they aren't trying to reform after a dubious past they're usually making eyes at a dubious future.

Carole Mathews, a tall, beautiful brunette, hopes that an exception to his generalization is Wilma Fensler, the young widow who appears to have a crush on Marshal Matt Wayne in The Californians (Tuesdays, NBC-TV).

Miss Mathews knows Wilma better than anyone else because she plays the role of Wilma. "I want her to be a good-hearted girl, not a bad girl," says Miss Mathews.

Wilma, to be sure, is no prude. She runs a gambling house — though everybody goes to great pains to emphasize that it's an HONEST gambling house.

Furthermore, Wilma is a widow. And, if you've been watching the TV set very sharply, you'll have observed that comely young widows have become highly respectable creatures on nighttime teleplays recently.

Miss Mathews said that viewers now seem to have accepted the fact that Wilma is Matt's girl friend. No hanky-panky, you understand. Just good friends.

True, Wilma never has kissed Wayne, played by Richard Coogan.

And why not? "I really don't know why not," said Miss Mathews. "As a matter of fact, that's a very good question. Why can't I kiss my leading man? Why don't leading men in Westerns ever kiss a girl?"

Would Wilma like to kiss Matt? Miss Mathews, an adroit diplomat, said thoughtfully, "I don't think it matters much how Wilma feels about it. The important thing is what would be the audience reaction. I'd like to know if they objected to a very warm, tender relationship between Wilma and Matt."

"On the other hand, perhaps the audience prefers the sense of anticipation that they may someday kiss rather than the fact that they do."

Shaggy Dog Story

HOLLYWOOD—(UPI)—After several weeks of discussion, thought, and more discussion, movie experts came up with a name for the English sheep dog in Disney's "The Shaggy Dog." The dog will be known in the picture as Shaggy.

Farmers in Northern Ireland are using gas to eliminate the increasing number of crop-destroying rabbits.

Conquest Of Peru Theme Of New Play

NEW YORK (AP)—A play about the conquest of Peru in the 16th century has been purchased by Peter Glenville, British director, for New York and London production.

The drama is by Peter Shaffer, whose first play, "Five Finger Exercise," turned out to be a West End hit. In contrast to its cast of five, "The Hunt of the Sun," will require 33 performers for the story of the conquistadors.

Dear Abby

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I have a problem that is so terrible I don't know where to go with it, so please answer me in the paper. I have been married for nine weeks and I am still a "miss." My husband looks for excuses so he won't have to be a husband to me. I don't know what is the matter with him. When I try to show him some affection, he starts to get red and his hands shake. He is a clean-cut, church-going man of 32 and I am 26, but I think he believes there is something wrong with married love. He would die before he went to our preacher with his problem but what am I going to do?

STILL A MISS
DEAR STILL: If your husband refuses to see his clergyman (which would be my first suggestion) perhaps he will see a marriage counselor or a doctor. He has to be convinced that some of the ideas he has grown up with are wrong. He needs professional help and I urge you to insist that he go at once! Good luck.

DEAR ABBY: I live in the city and I thought roosters were not allowed in the city. I am a sound sleeper and every morning about 5:00 this rooster across the street sounds off and wakes up my whole family. Can anything be done about this?

DISTURBED
DEAR DISTURBED: There is not only a Law stating where roosters can be kept, but also a Law against disturbing the peace. Your neighbor is breaking both. Talk to a lawyer. A rooster will have to get up pretty early in the morning to fool a lawyer.

DEAR ABBY: What's wrong with me? I am a widow who wants to get married again. I've offered this man a completely furnished home, a steady income and a car of his own, and after three years he is still playing hard to get.

LONESOME
DEAR LONESOME: SOME men would rather be kept guessing than "kept." You're too generous.

DEAR ABBY: We were recently invited to a Church wedding.

The bride's father and mother were divorced and he had remarried, but that's another story. His first wife was present. His second wife was there with their 19-month-old baby. She made no attempt to silence the child when the father walked the bride down the aisle and the baby called "Da Da" and waved to him. This caused a big disturbance and you could see the minister's hair standing on end. During the ceremony she let the baby crawl to the father and he held her. After the wedding the bride was ignored as her father was busy accepting the congratulations on the new baby. What is your opinion of a father who would behave this way?

ONLOOKER
DEAR ONLOOKER: This father not only gave the bride away, but he gave himself away. He's got enough gall to be divided into three parts.

For a personal reply, write to ABBY in care of this paper. Enclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope. (McNaught Syndicate, Inc.)

Jock Mahoney Star Of TV's 'Derringer'

By BOB THOMAS
AP Motion Picture Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—The new TV season has brought forth umpteen Westerns and one Southern, sub. name of Yancy Derringer.

This Derringer is a cool character of post-bellum New Orleans who carries three firing arms bearing his own name. Except for a mustache and a vaguely large-nosed nature, you might take him for another TV idol named the Range Rider. Or he might pass for Jock Mahoney, star of Universal International movies.

All are the same guy, a towering, muscular ex-slut man who is now embarking on his fourth career in films. And this one seems to be the most promising to date.

Jock graduated from falling off cliffs and horses to make 78 Range Rider half-hours. Then he did 11 features for U-I.

"I returned from Germany after doing a small but meaty part in 'A Time to Love and a Time to Die' and found out that the bottom had dropped out of the studio," he said. "They didn't know when they'd be in business again and suggested I consider TV offers."

One was to do Revue's "Cimarron City." He was offered $70,000 a year on a flat salary. Jock said he'd work for $40,000 if he could share in the profits to avoid paying much of his income to taxes. No deal. Then U-I asked if he'd like to have his freedom. Jock impulsively said yes.

"There I was owning only my house and having no income," he remarked. "It happened so suddenly that I didn't have time to line up another job."

But his action had the endorsement of the family council—his lovely wife Margaret and three children. Their confidence was justified. The offers started coming in, most of them for Western series. He shied away, not wishing to climb back into the Range Rider's saddle.

One day he encountered Richard and Mary Sale, veteran film-writing team. They chatted most of the day and into the evening. Out of the meeting of minds came Yancy Derringer.

Now the show is comfortably sponsored on CBS Thursday nights. And as another bit of luck, CBS decided to take the Range Rider series off the air for two years. So it looks like smooth sailing down the Mississippi for fast-drawing Derringer.

The National Park Service takes care of 792 pieces of property in Washington, D. C. The White House is one of them.
